Copyright Restrictions:

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a photocopy for purposes in excess of "fair use", that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

The signature of the individual or a responsible office/department must appear below to indicate agreement and awareness of the above conditions and warning concerning copyright restrictions. Signature also indicates knowledge of document delivery costs and agreement to payment of said services.
